

Fact Sheet Okonjima African Villa

The Okonjima African Villa is situated in a secluded wilderness area, overlooking a natural waterhole that's ideal for wildlife photography and bird watching. The Okonjima Villa is situated inside the 55 000acre | 20 000 ha | 200km² private, nature reserve. This safari-chic, thatched villa has two en-suite, luxury bedrooms in the main house and two separate private, luxury mini suites, which together can accommodate up to eight adults and four children.

The main house consists of:

- Two en-suite luxury bedrooms.
- The 4th room at the Villa (courtyard view – family unit) can only be booked, if guest are related to the guests in the main room, for both suites are situated in the main building.
- A modern, chef-designed kitchen with wine and soft drink coolers, gas and electric cooking facilities and a double-door refrigerator with a built-in ice maker.
- A wood-burning fireplace that brings together the spacious lounge and dining areas.
- Each of the two en-suite, luxury bedrooms have an inside and outside shower as well as a bath with views of the Namibian bush.
- The infinity pool, which is necklaced by an African red teak deck, looks out onto the waterhole that's frequented by an abundance of wildlife.
- The open-air, shaded sala is the ideal setting for a meal or afternoon nap

The two private, luxury mini suites are situated 35-50 metres on either side of the main house and each boast:

- Double volume thatched roofs with air-con, fans and heating facilities.
- Glass-panelled sliding doors with panoramic views across Okonjima Nature Reserve.
- Should guests choose, these open doorways may be replaced with roll-down, zip-fastened canvas partitioning with heavy-duty gauze screens – to give you a true sense of staying in the untamed African bush.
- A well-stocked mini bar, as well as tea and coffee making facilities.
- The choice of an inside or outside shower, as well as bathrooms with bush views.
- Wi-Fi and ample workspace and private, undercover parking.

Activities on offer:

The Okonjima Nature Reserve sprawls over 200 square kilometres of undulating plains, mountainous outcrops, and riverine thickets, and it is here that leopard (Panthera pardus), the most adaptable of all the wild cats, thrive.

These intelligent, solitary predators occur in high density in the expanse of Okonjima Nature Reserve's multi-faceted topography. The Reserve's predator research programme has spanned three decades, and its findings have provided great insight to leopard behavioural patterns as well as offered an upbeat prognosis for a sustainable future for the species in today's Africa.

A two-day Okonjima stay offers the best chance to view wild leopard in Namibia, as well as those collared for research purposes, in their natural habitats. Research programme leopard are actively tracked, and their collars are an invaluable resource for locating, and then returning to the Reserve, cats which have migrated to surrounding farmland where they are perceived as threats to livestock.

The Okonjima Nature Reserve, a huge, protected area set amongst the rugged commercial farmlands of central Namibia, comprises a diversified ecosystem representative of both the larger and small mammals of Namibia, as well as most of the country's endemic birds.

Game drives and guided bush walks offer visitors an intimate, up-close perspective of Namibia's wildlife and, especially, its most protected species.

The Okonjima Nature Reserve is home to and runs extensive research projects on rare and endangered species, big and small. Okonjima is a malaria-free area.

Okonjima is situated half-way between Windhoek and Etosha National Park (10 km off the B1)
